This time it's tied into the story of King Hezekiah of Judah. It seems to take a bit more of historical liberty with the biblical account than did "Hittite Warrior", but on the other hand, I liked the characters and story are a bit more. "God King" is the tale of Taharka, a younger son of the pharaoh of Egypt.

It is interesting to note that both Matthew and Luke start their gospels with a genealogy. One is the genealogy of Mary, and the other is the genealogy of Joseph. Both were descendants of King David. The fact that the Christmas story starts with a genealogy shows us that it's a real story that happened in a real place at a real time.

In God King, written some years ago, but now published for the first time, similar fascinating connections are made for a later period in Israel's history. Of God King, Miss Williamson says, "I first came across a king called Taharka (King of Ethiopia and Egypt) in the Bible's story of King Hezekiah and the saving of Jerusalem from the Assyrians.

God King Quotes by Joanne Williamson - Goodreads

Then he called them to sing their songs as praises to God. The hymn, "All Creatures of Our God and King," is an outgrowth of that sentiment. It is a call for "All creatures of our God and King" to "lift up (their voices) and with us sing, Alleluia!" St. Francis wrote this hymn near the end of his life.
